TOBACCO NOTES

Warehouse Company Sells Land for Fancy Price.—Reputation of Local Market Spread-ing.

The Washington County Tobacco Warehouse Co. last week sold to Messrs. R. C. Boblitt, Chas. Camden and J. F. Bishop three quarters of an acre of land off their lot just west of Springfield for $1,250. The price realized for this tract indicates how valuable this land has become since the Warehouse Company has erected its buildings and established a loose leaf market. When the company purchased the land it paid only $2,000 for the entire tract of twelve acres. They have erected there on two large buildings and now have in the course of construction a large building to be used as a loose leaf market. By the time this is completed it is thought that the L. & N. Ry. Co. will have added to the side track running by the buildings, thereby adding to the convenience of the tobacco buyers.

Messrs. Boblitt, Camden & Bishop will probably erect a building for the handling of tobacco as all three of the gentlemen are experienced tobacco men.

Washington county's fame as a tobacco producing county and Springfield's as a market are rapidly spreading. Aside from those who have already leased or own or will erect buildings for the handling of tobacco others are now in communication with parties here with a view to coming into the local market, and will come if they can get warehouse room.

There will be many buyers here during the coming fall and winter and a prosperous time for the grower is anticipated.

Base Ball.

On Monday afternoon the kid team of this place played an exciting game of base ball with the Lebanon boys, the score being 11 to 10 in favor of the latter. As the score indicates, there was quite a good deal of slugging and beside this most of the players are reported to have indulged in booting the ball. Geo. Medley and Dick Nally composed the Springfield battery.

Harry Shultz and Rich Spalding yesterday assisted Lebanon in defeating Perryville by a score of 12 to 0. Harry did the pitching and was invincible.

MACCKVILLE.

The crops seem to be doing fine since the recent rains.

Miss Beatie Vandiver, of Harrodsburg, was the guest of Mrs. Katie May Walker during the protracted meeting at the Christian church.

Mr. George Wycoff and wife, of Carlisle, are visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wycoff, this week.

Mr. E. C. Hume left Monday to attend to business in Seattle, Washington.

The baptizing which took place Sunday afternoon at Mr. Sam Shewmaker's was largely attended.

Mrs. Alta Peter was called to the bedside of her mother Saturday. Mrs. Boner passed away Monday.

Miss Lula Gibbs is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Roberts, of this place.

Mr. John M. Wycoff has returned home from business in Lebanon.

Miss Madge Graves, of Louisville, has returned home, after a few weeks' visit with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hatchett were in Harrodsburg Sunday.

Use Kentucky Star Flour to bake your cakes and make biscuits. It's light, pure, white and healthful.

An Entertaining Institution.

Elsewhere in this issue of The Sun will be found the advertisement of The Farmers Bank of Mackville, one of the strongest of the young financial institutions in this section. The bank is capitalized at $15,000 and at the present time has a surplus fund of undivided profits of $3,000. This is indeed very creditable for a bank of its age.

Its officers and board of directors are among the best business men in Washington county, while the cashier, Mr. J. M. Smith, is a banker who has had years of experience.

The bank is thriving and deserves the success with which it is meeting.

Greene—Gibbons.

A wedding which will be of interest to the people of Springfield was solemnized last Wednesday evening at the Sacred Heart church in Louisville, Rev. Father Walsh performing the ceremony. The contracting parties were Mr. Geo. Greene, Jr., and Miss Margaret Gibbons, both of Louisville.

Mr. Greene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Greene, both of whom are Springfield people, and is a grandson of Mr. J. A. Shader, the well known grocer.

SHEEP INDUSTRY

Dr. McCormack Inspects Stock Yards in Hope of Avoiding Proposed Quarantine.

Tuesday's Times: Dr. J. N. McCormack is inspecting the stock yards of Louisville to-day in the hope of finding some remedy for the proposed quarantine of Kentucky sheep by the Department of Agriculture. This inspection will not be official, but Dr. McCormack hopes to be able to learn all possible about the local handling of sheep in order that he may offer some remedy at the next meeting of the State Board of Health, which will be held within the next two weeks.

According to Dr. McCormack the proposed quarantine would practically paralyze the sheep industry in Kentucky if put into effect. Such quarantines last for several years, and he hopes to prove that the scare about scabies will be able to be assuaged at the meeting of the Board.

Intense Colicky Pains Relieved.

"For some years I suffered from intense colicky pains which would come on at times and from which I could find no relief," says I. S. Mason, of Beaver Dam, Ky. "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me by a friend. After taking a few doses of the remedy I was entirely relieved. That was four years ago and there has been no return of the symptoms since that time." This remedy is for sale by The Leo Haydon Drug Co.

LAND SALES

Several Pieces of Valuable Land Change Hands.—Good Prices Realized.

On Monday, County Court day in Spencer county, the tobacco warehouse at Taylorsville belonging to the M. L. Seary estate was sold at public auction by decree of court. The property was sold in the course of administration of the estate. Mr. Thos. Cook was the purchaser and the price paid was $1,479. Master Commissioner M. G. Leachman went over Monday to attend the sale.

Mrs. Nannie J. Leachman has sold her farm on the Little Beech to Mr. Kavanaugh Pinkston. The farm is an excellent piece of land and is known as the old Nelson Reed place. The place consists of about one hundred and forty acres and was sold for $50 per acre.

Mr. Henry C. Offutt has purchased from Messrs. Robt. Fowler and Fred Combs their farm near Booker and just above Doe Run. The farm consists of 128 acres, for which he paid $5,400. The land is a portion of the old Sharp place. Mr. Offutt also bought the home farm of Mr. Arthur Eddleman. This place contains 70 acres and the consideration was $3,250.

Harrodsburg Laundry Burns.

(Kentucky Republican)

Fire which originated in the ironing room on the second floor of the Model Steam Laundry about midnight Friday night almost completely destroyed the plant and greatly damaged the building. The building is a brick structure and the greatest damage to this was to the floors, ceiling and roof and windows and doors.

The flames had gained a great headway when the fire department arrived, making it next to impossible to save any of the contents. The fact that most of the fixtures are heavy machinery made it a hazardous task to remove any of it, and about all that could be done was to see it destroyed by the mad flames.

It is not known how the fire originated, but the most acceptable theory is that it started from coals of fire left in some of the apparatus, as some of the hands employed there worked for some time after supper. Mr. George Miller proprietor of the plant, was out in the country all day Friday harvesting hay, and not having been at the laundry during the day was unable to give a definite theory as to the probable cause of the fire.

Twenty-Three Additions.

A grand revival held at the Christian church at Mackville has just been brought to an end. During the services twenty-three additions were made to the church by the eloquent and fervid preaching of Rev. Horace Kingsbury. During the meeting every service was attended by large crowds who profited by the gospel as expounded by this earnest servant of the Master. On last Sunday the converts were baptized on the place of Mr. Sam Shewmaker.

FAIR VIEW.

Miss Artie Wall entertained a few of her friends Saturday night.

Hitner Linton, Ora Carney and Mattie Hawkins were guests of Ella Rose Truxax Sunday.

Willie Smothers, of Illinois, is visiting his parents at Polin.

T. M. Carney spent from Friday until Sunday with relatives in Danville.

The Springfield Sun, $1.00 per year. The Sun and Courier-Journal, $1.50.

LONGING

Byron Williams.

I am jaded and cloyed with the struggle
In the field den of slaves.
And my heart is a-thirst for the woodland
Where the pulsing river laves.
I am sick for the idle of the grasses,
For the peace of the soothing elm,
For the joys of a Nature song,
For a drift with an untroubled beam!

Ah! My heart, in the depth of the valleys
Where the rivulet sings alone,
I am glad as the world that is bursting
With the joy of a Nature song.
And the thrushes are trilling their love songs
While the squalor shrieks with glee,
And the shaver buzzes o'er the willows
While en route to a far off sea.

See the cardinal flash in the bushes
And the tanager flit on high.
From a monarch dethroned by the lightning.
Near the red-head vent his cry!

Ah! A mudturtle creeps up the pathway
For a jog at his turtle pace.
See him hide in his shell when the barefoot
With a whoop, meets him face to face!
And the swimming hole, deep in the bayou,
Is agape with a cooling strain.
To the boy it is calling and calling
To its cooling depths again!
I am jaded and weary of striving
In the field den of slaves—
I would yield to the call of the river
Where the pulsing billow laves!

I would go to the elm and the clover
And forget all the woes I feel!
I would sink into rest in the grasses:
All a-thirst at the spring I'd kneel.
I am jaded and cloyed with the struggle,
With the bustle and the fire of men;
I would like to go back to the country
To the land that HE made, again!

TWO FIRES

Two Well Known Citizens Suffer Losses by Fire.—Partial Insurance.

During the thunder storm which struck Springfield Friday morning lightning struck the barn of Mr. E. S. Mayes, Jr., setting it on fire and destroying it and its contents. In the barn at the time were Mr. Mayes' driving horse, a fine two-year old jack belonging to Mr. Mayes and Mr. Sam Nally and about $300 worth of hay. It is thought that the lightning killed the live stock instantly as there was no sound from within after the fire was discovered. Mr. Mayes carried $700 insurance, about enough to cover the loss of the barn, leaving the loss on the horse, jack and hay a total one.

The store house in Texas owned by the estate of Mary E. Drane and occupied by the general store of Mr. Will Phillips, was totally destroyed by fire late Friday night or early Saturday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown as it had gained great headway before being discovered. It is probable however that it was started by a cigar or cigarette stump.

There was no insurance on the house but Mr. Phillips had insurance amounting to $500 which will cover about half of his loss.

What is Best for Indigestion?

Mr. A. Robinson, of Drummond, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion, and recommends Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at The Leo Haydon Drug Co.

Rodgers—Hatchett.

The marriage of Mr. Olliver Rodgers and Miss Mallie Hatchett was solemnized at the church at Tatham Springs last Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Sims, of Louisville, performing the ceremony in a charming manner. The Bardstown band, which is at the Hotel at present, played the prelude. The couple entered the church to the music of Hearts and Flowers played by Mr. Oscar Shirley. The bride is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Hatchett and is possessed of lovely traits. The groom is a highly respected gentleman of Taylorsville, at which place they will make their home. The crowded audience proved that they have many friends who wish them much success. May they never be overshadowed by clouds of sorrow but may sunshine and happiness ever be theirs.

LOCUST GROVE.

Miss Lillian Leachman spent Saturday night with friends at Hillsboro.

Mrs. Tom Baker and children visited Mrs. Will Matherly Thursday.

Miss Frances Litsey spent Friday night with her aunt and attended church at Fenwick.

J. S. Leachman and daughter have returned from a visit to relatives at Fairfield.

Mrs. Isaac McMakin has returned to her home at Bloomfield, after a visit with Mrs. Ora Merritt.

Mr. Ed Birch and wife spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Birch, near Mackville.

Mrs. Beulah Claybrooke and baby have returned home, after a pleasant visit with her father's family.

Miss Louise Fenwick, of Fenwick, spent last week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Litsey.

FAIR CATALOG

Issued for 1909 Exhibition of Washington County Fair Association.—An Excellent Program.

The catalog of the Washington County Fair, to be held here August 25, 26, 27 and 28, 1909, is now out and gives every indication that the fair this year will be up to the high standard of those of the past.

Two hundred and seventy-five classes will be shown for horses, mules, babbies, jacks, cattle, swine, poultry, farm produce, "fancy work," etc., for premiums ranging from $1 to $100.

As has been the custom for many years the first day will be ladies' day when all ladies are invited to attend free of charge. On the second day the Association will act as host to the school children of the county.

Secretary Campbell says that the stock men have already engaged a number of stalls for their stock and he anticipates the best exhibition ever held here.

VALLEY HILL.

Brown & Tatum sold four nice steers to Judge Litsey last Tuesday at $35.125 per head.

Mrs. T. A. Tatum was the guest of Mrs. W. F. Moran, at Elm Hill, Sunday.

Mrs. Kattie Pinkston, of near Litsey, visited friends here Wednesday.

Tobacco is about all topped in this section, and is looking good.

Born, July 27, 1909, to the wife of Benedict Janes, a daughter.

Miss Miranda Tucker was the guest of Mrs. M. Reed, Tuesday.

Mrs. Minnie Whittington, of Illinois, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. S. E. Files, of this place, during the past week.

Tatum & Brown recently purchased a few sheep of W. H. Yancy.

Mrs. M. Reed has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Janes during the past week.

Mrs. S. E. Files, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is able to be out again.

Maurie Durrett, of Springfield, passed through our section Thursday with a nice bunch of stock ewes he purchased at Bloomfield.

Mrs. Emmet Fields, of Crescent Hill, and daughter, Mrs. Nicholson, of New York, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Grundy.

Miss Mattie Brown, of Bardstown, is the guest of Miss Lida Grundy at her beautiful country home, Cedar Hill.

FARM AND STOCK

Items of Interest to Farmers and Live Stock and Poultry Raisers.

When your fowls lay soft shelled eggs, they should be fed a ration strong in lime.

It does not pay to grind food for sheep. In fact, they do better when they grind their own.

No animal on the farm succumbs so quickly to disease as sheep, but they are not difficult to keep healthy.

It is well to work up from a few good cows to many. When the day comes you will know how to handle them—and how to get them.

It is cheaper to keep the herd up all the time than to neglect it for a while and try later to bring it back to condition. The cow won't make up for lost time.

The man who goes into the sheep business now with the intention of learning all he can about it will make money. We are, as a nation, eating more mutton every year.

The poultry business is not made up of a few big things which we can do in a day, but of little things which never will cease to come up for our attention.

Dry quarters for the ducks and geese to sleep in are absolutely necessary. The fact that they are water fowls does not mean that they will thrive in damp quarters.

"Scaly leg" is contagious as well as an eyecore. Use coal oil freely on their shanks. Thoroughly mix coal oil, sulphur and lard and apply it three times each week until a cure is effected.

Four a gallon of boiling water over a pound of lime. When settled pour it over eggs which you have packed small end down in a stone jar, and set in cool place. It is claimed the eggs will keep three months.

The difference in cholera and severe indigestion is that indigestion can be successfully handled with proper feeding, while cholera kills so rapidly you haven't time to administer drugs even if you knew it would cure.

Don't forget that bumble foot comes from a bruise caused by the fowls alighting from high perches. Make your roost not over 24 inches from the floor, so as to prevent a great distance for the fowls to alight on leaving the perch.

Just as long as calves will eat a big lot of dry hay give it to them. It is the best of anything we know of to keep them in good trim. No bowel trouble is apt to overtake them while they have plenty of nice, bright hay.

In case a ewe disowns or refuses to let her lamb suck, sprinkle a little salt and ans seed over the back and shoulders of the lamb; this will often induce the mother to lick it and effect a reconciliation, and in no way harms the lamb.

A foot affected with bumble foot should be opened with a sharp pointed knife and cleansed with a disinfectant such as carbolic acid, then apply a good healing salve. Keep the fowl in a grassy park or in a building with the floor deeply covered with straw.

At present prices, a ton of butter shipped from Minneapolis to New York is worth in the latter city $600 to $700. To bring the same cash return, about fifty tons of hay would have to be shipped; so dairymen makes some difference in your freight bills.

Have you been using a sheep out of your own flock to head the ewes for a long time? Better go off to some good flock that has new blood in it and buy a nice ram. The improvement in your next year's crop of lambs will more than pay for the same.

If properly kept and judiciously applied to land, the manure produced by a flock of fowls is said to be worth nearly one-half the value of the food consumed; and yet little account is taken of the droppings when an estimate is made of the profits from the flock.

A goose farm should have a running stream of pure water so situated that the fields may be laid out on both sides of the stream. The fields should consist of good pasture with a variety of grasses and of sufficient size to support a gander and three geese with their growing goslings.

Amid the summer toil we must not forget to keep the houses clean, as it is really more important now than in the winter, as the summer is the breeding season of lice and mites, and they will always take advantage of filth as a hiding place in daytime, while at night they will torment the birds. Change the straw in the nest boxes often and use some kind of lice powder medicated nest eggs. Keep the lice on the run, if no more.

A method that has for the past few years been used with considerable success for causing fowls to pass through the molting period early and uniformly, consists in withholding part of the fowls' food for about two weeks, which stops egg production and reduces the flesh of the fowls, and then feeding heavily on a ration suitable for the formation of the feathers and general upbuilding of the system.

Many farmers work too much and study and read too little. Learn the easiest, best and most economical way of doing the farm work. Hard work won't make you rich and successful unless it is backed up by good, intelligent management. Always be on the lookout to learn the best way of doing things. Be a good reader and observer.

Soldier Barks Death Plot.

It seems to J. F. Stone, a civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies, for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 175 pounds." For severe Colds, obstinate Coughs, Hemorrhages, Asthma, and to prevent Pneumonia it is unrivaled. 50c. and $1.00. Try bottle free! Guaranteed by Haydon & Robertson.

SURE SIGN.

Mr. Young—They say that a man should not be judged by the clothes he wears.

Mrs. Young—Quite correct. He should be judged by the clothes his wife wears.

Nervous Break-Down

Nerve energy is the force that controls the organs of respiration, circulation, digestion and elimination. When you feel weak, nervous, irritable, sick, it is often because you lack nerve energy, and the process of rebuilding and sustaining life is interfered with. Dr. Miles' Nerveine has cured thousands of such cases, and will we believe benefit if not entirely cure you. Try it.

"My nervous system gave away completely, and left me on the verge of the grave. I tried skilled physicians but got no permanent relief. I got so bad I had to give up my work. I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine. In a few days I was much better, and I continued to improve until entirely cured. I am in business again and have had an opportunity to recommend this remedy."—Miss W. L. BURTON, Myrtle Creek, Oregon.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nerveine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

A FATAL FRIENDSHIP.

Devotion of Princess Lamballe to Marie Antoinette.

SLAIN BY A PARISIAN MOB.

The Assassination of the Princess, Who Escaped and Returned to Comfort Her Friend, Was One of the Worst Acts of the Reign of Terror.

It was in the historic Carignan palace at Turin that the Princess Lamballe was born. Her father was Louis Victor of Carignan, of the royal house of Savoy and Sardinia and Sa-oy.

Her childhood was spent in Turin during the period that followed the defeat of the French through the brilliant military tactics of Prince Eugene of Savoy. At eighteen she was married to Stanislaus, son of the Duke of Penthièvre of France.

The chief place of this duchy was the town of Lamballe, about fifty miles from Rennes. The Prince de Lamballe died in one year, and as soon as an etiquette allowed a marriage with Louis XV. was contemplated. This did not go into effect, however, and the princess withdrew from the court. She met Marie Antoinette when that princess first came to Paris, and they were mutually attracted and became friends. The Princess de Lamballe saw the dangers which this young foreigner was exposed, and when Marie Antoinette became queen of France in 1774 and appointed the princess superintendent of the royal household she entered upon her duties with the sympathetic understanding of a loyal friend. The closest ties of affectionate regard drew these two young royal personages together. Through the princess' less gayety of court life the Princess de Lamballe was the judicious friend. The dangers came to the queen she was faithful and devoted.

When the storm of adversity broke over the royal family and it was arranged that an escape should be effected Mme. de Lamballe got safely to England, going across from Dieppe, but the royal family were arrested at Valenciennes and declared traitors to France.

Mme. de Lamballe's devotion was so true she at once hastened back to Paris to be with the queen. Her friends urged and implored her to think of the danger to herself and pointed out that she could be of no real service at such a critical time. But she knew better than they did what a comfort her presence would be, and her heart was entirely occupied with the sorrows of her sovereign. She was allowed to become a prisoner with the royal family in the temple, and for one week she was a cheerful and helpful companion, full of affectionate arts to make the hours less bitter and giving to Marie Antoinette the loving devotion that only a friend so loyal could give.

When those about the prison saw what an influence of joy Mme. de Lamballe brought to the royal prisoners an order was issued for her removal to the prison of La Force. From here she was taken for a mock trial and offered her life if she would take oath against the monarchy. With scorn she refused to do this.

Then came one of the most terrible acts of the period of the reign of terror. She was delivered to the people, wild with the desire for blood, and was killed in the courtyard of La Force prison. They stabbed her with sabers, cut off her head, tore her heart from her body while it was yet palpitating, and then dragged her body through the streets to the temple.

On the way there they stopped at a hairdresser's and made him rouge the beautiful face of the dead princess. The man nearly died with fear while at this awful work. When it was done and the head set on a pike, the long, fair curls of her pretty hair fell about the neck. Those of the mob who suggested this hideous work upon the head said, "Antoinette will never recognize her friend."

The heart was also put on the end of a pike and the route to the temple resumed. The royal family were together, and Louis was reading to them when they heard the sound of the mob and loud, high voices. Suddenly the door was opened violently, and as they all started to their feet some men pushed themselves past the guard and shouted to the king: "The people have mercy on the queen!"

With a cry of horror and despair Marie Antoinette fell into a state of stupor. Mme. Elizabeth forced her to rise, and her children clung to her and cried with fear. Louis tried to control his voice as he said with pathetic dignity, "You might have spared the queen the knowledge of this frightful calamity."—Boston Globe.

To Make a Hit.

"You send me violets every morn," said the beautiful girl.

"I responded the ardent lover, no matter what the cost."

"Quite so. Now, why not send up a bunch of asparagus tomorrow instead. It would be just as expensive and would make a big hit with 'pa.'—Pittsburg Post.

Three bathing suits she had bought And thought her husband was a dunce When he blushed as he besought her To wear all three at once.—Shelbyville Sentinel.

Copying after Mother Eve the best dressed women at Presidential and all other fashionable balls in "Christian America" are the least dressed.—The Southern Periodical.

A pile of dishes in the sink, the carpets all upon the blink—a pile of dust behind the door, hat, coat and shoes upon the floor, papers scattered every where about, patching flowers going up the spout. "But it's not this way here every day—you see it's because my wife's away."—Los Angeles Express.

The reason why women do not propose is supposed to be due to the fact that they want to have the last word.—Hart County News.

In former years the buzzard and carrion crow were thought to be quite valuable from a sanitary view in consuming dead animals left exposed in the fields. It has been demonstrated that these birds are the most prolific source for the distribution and spreading of hog cholera and other contagious diseases.—Farmers Home Journal.

A country minister in a certain flock took permanent leave of his congregation in the following manner:

"Brothers and sisters, I come to say good-bye. I don't think God loves this church because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me, because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are mouldy fruit and wormy apples, and by their fruits ye shall know them."

"Brothers I am going away to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain in a penitentiary. Where I go ye cannot come, but I go to Lorend a place for your souls. Good-bye."—Columbia (Mo.) Herald.

"Can't you see you're hurting business," said the devil to the man who was steadily progressing on the live-and-let-live plan, "you are keeping men from falling who if sorely pressed might fall—why, if all men done as you do I would have no job at all."—The Bee Hive.

A newspaper man's ambition to be a good fellow should begin with a desire to render valuable service and end only with the highest possible accomplishment. That is being the kind of good fellow who lasts, honest and dependable and is honored, trusted and rewarded for what he is as well as for what he does.—National-Printer Journalist.

A negro preacher recently at a country church in the Blue-Grass addressed his congregation in part as follows: "My beloved friends, as I have 'nounced at the outset me subject is miracles and I stands here this mornin' and tells you what no sensible nigger in de south 'er my voice will 'spate—dat the greatest of all miracles was 'bout them loaves and fishes. Dey was five thousand loaves and two thousand fishes, and de twelve 'Postles had to eat 'em all. De miracle is dey didn't bust!"

With tears in his eyes he said: "I want you to marry again, when I am gone, which will be very soon," and she replied:

"If that's your wish, husband, You should have died ten years ago, Then I should have been some showin'. Nobody wants an old woman, you know."—Shelbyville Sentinel.

An editor of an exchange is now a haunted beast, roaming the land, no place to lay his head, all on account of an error made by his foreman. That person in some way got a marriage notice and a grocer's local mixed, the outcome of which read as follows: "Mr. John Jones and Miss Mollie Smith were united in the bonds of molasses at 30 cents by the quart or barrel. The bride was attired in codfish and mackerel, while the groom looked splendid in home made soap at 20 cents a quart. Mr. Jones is an esteemed sauer kraut, and he has a new invoice of hams at 15 cents a pound. Rev. Butter officiated."—Shelbyville Sentinel.

A prohibition candidate in Kansas had so much campaign literature left over that he stored it in his barn not thinking about the cows. The cows ate the prohibition literature and every cow on the place went dry.

New York, July 26.—Mrs. Thomas Renick, 33 years old, gave birth to five children last week.

Cholera Infantum Cured.

"Something like two years ago my baby, which was then about a year old, was taken seriously ill with cholera infantum, vomiting and purging profuse, writes J. F. Dempsey, of Demopsees, Ala. I did what I could to relieve her but did her no good, and being very much alarmed about her went for a physician but failed to find one, so came back by Elder Bros. & Carter's store and Mr. Elder recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. I procured a bottle of it, went home as quickly as possible and gave the baby a dose of the remedy. It relieved her in fifteen minutes and soon cured her entirely." Mild Laxative for Baby Free

The child of today is the parent of the future, and whether it grows up healthy and strong, or puny and weak, depends upon the intelligence of its parents, for most children are born into the world healthy, but thousands become future weaklings between birth and the age of ten, when the parents are still in greatest control.

The prime cause of trouble in the stomach of a baby that is digesting its food seldom cries and always looks cheerful, the little child whose stomach is good romps and plays and never whines; the grown child learns well at school and as a grown-up for fun if its head is clear and its stomach light, and that means it has no constipation.

The best and safest way to cure any irregularity of the stomach and bowels in children is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a liquid laxative wonderful in its effect as Dr. John W. Dunham, Apple Creek, O., Mrs. H. L. Cullum, Plainville, Ind., and numerous others can testify who give it to their children with extraordinary results. A bottle only costs 50 cents or 75 cents according to the size you want, and can be given to any member of the family in constipation, indigestion, headache, sick stomach, dyspepsia, heartburn, sick headache and similar digestive troubles. It never grips or strangles like pills, cathartics, salt or other medicines, which should not be given to children, women or old people.

ORCHID HUNTING.

The Terrors and the Dangers of a Tropical Forest.

"It is not a pretty story, this narrative of a trip up the Orinoco, but you may understand orchid people better if you read it.

"It began unluckily," said he. "I took a partner because I'd learned that the dark places of earth are hard upon a man by himself. I met him at Port of Spain, and he was eager for the adventure because he had just ascended from a British mercantile house in Havana and the Orinoco sounded to him like a haven.

"We hired a few guides. Our real guides we would pick up at Angostura. One day while waiting for the stores to be packed I took my partner out to show him what an orchid was.

"Near the Pitch lake I saw one in a tree and ordered one of the negro boys to climb up and get it. He would not. A deadly snake dwelt in that tree, he declared. He was afraid of snakes! Nice, efficient, helpful boy to take into tropical forests, wasn't he?

"It was inauspicious before the expedition had even started." So I cuffed him and handed him my hunting knife. "Bring down that flower, and also the snake's head," I ordered, and, whining, trembling, he went up the trunk. He was detaching the orchid from where it clung when a thing like a spear, as black as his own skin, suddenly struck at the boy's wrist. He screamed with terror and, toppling down, writhed with pain. He died, and I felt a gloom settle on my spirits.

"Well, at Angostura we took rafts and six guides upstream. First one guide died of fever; then another was bitten by poisonous insects. One fell in with—or into—an alligator. We needed meat, and the skin was worth a good deal, so half in revenge, half curiosity, we went out and plucked holes in the monster. When the guides cut it open they stopped and drew things out—the bones and the cotton clothes of the guide this cannibal repulse had swallowed. The very knut was still in his sarong. Oh, don't squirm! This is orchid hunting.

"We had three guides left at the end of the second month, when, paddling along one day where the vines overreached and let sunny tendrils dangle down, we saw a fifty yard clearing. We saw there the sides of three canoes, half smothered with rapid growing vegetation, and 1,500 alligator skins well salted and drying. Hanging to the roof of what had been a kind of lean-to were 100 orchid plants—withered and dead. On the floor lay two rats, rifles and two skeletons. Out by the ashly place where the fire had been was a third skeleton. Up between the ribs were cheerfully growing some gay weeds."—Everybody's Magazine.

Aroused Her Curiosity After All.

"Don't want any," said a housekeeper from her second story window to a street vender whose covered wagon was standing a few steps away and who had just pulled the bell.

"Don't want any what?" gruffly asked the vender, who hadn't had even a chance to tell what his wares were.

"What have you got?" asked the housekeeper, whose curiosity was getting the better of her annoyance.

"Some good things. You don't want any. Git up, Bob!"

"Now, I wonder what that exasperating man is selling, anyhow?" she exclaimed as the wagon disappeared around the corner.—Exchange.

Silenced Him.

The young man in the barber's chair had been annoyed by suggestions of the white coated artist, although he had said clearly enough when he sat down that he wanted only a hair cut and a shampoo. Singing, facial massage and hair tonics had been offered vainly.

"Finally the barber perpetrated what is with barbers the crowning insult. Passing his hand over the young man's face, he said contemptuously:

"Shave yourself, don't you?"

"Sure," said the young man. "Don't you?"

And there was silence.—Washington Post.

Poor Man!

She—I'm never going to speak to your wife again.

He—What's the matter?

She—Remember to write to me two weeks ago, and I haven't heard from her since."

"Oh, well" (feeling in his pocket), "here's the letter. She gave it to me a fortnight ago."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Descant.

"Father, do me a favor from monkeys?" asked an inquisitive lad.

"Yes, my boy."

"And what do monkeys descend from?"

"The monkeys descend—ah—from the trees!"—Logdon Telegraph.

Not Guilty.

It is said that within 400 years gold aggregating $2,000,000,000 has disappeared from circulation, and the government would like to know who has it. We learn that the members of the newspaper fraternity are not suspected.—St. Louis Republic.

Handicapped.

"You ought to save money for your family."

"Yes, but?"

"But what?"

"My family won't let me."—Cleveland Leader.

The Secret of Long Life.

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans had proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerves, imparts life and tone to the entire system. It's a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c. at Haydon & Robertson's.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

An Incident That Seemed to Explain Joshua's Miracle.

There was an incident in our life at Brandy, connected with Gettysburg, which is worth relating. Batchelder, whose map of the battlefield of Gettysburg is authority and whom we had fallen in with while we were there, asked to join our mess at Brandy when we came to the army to verify the positions of the various commands. One night we had just sat down to dinner when he entered our big hospital tent, quite tired.

"Well," he announced after taking his place at the table, "I have been down in the Second corps today, and I believe I have discovered how Joshua made the sun stand still. I first went to — regiment and had the officers mark on the map the hour of their position at a certain point. Then I went to — regiment in the same brigade. They declared positively it was one or two hours earlier or later than that given by the other. So it went on, so two regiments or brigades agreeing, and if I blundered that some of them must certainly be mistaken they would set me down by saying with severe dignity, 'We were there, Batchelder, and we ought to know, I guess,' and I made up my mind that it would take a day of at least twenty hours instead of thirteen at Gettysburg to satisfy their accounts. So when Joshua's captains got around him after the fight and they began to talk it over the only way under the heavens that he could ever harmonize their statements was to make the sun stand still and give them all a chance."

Any one who has ever tried to establish the exact position or hour when anything took place in an engagement will confirm Batchelder's experience and possibly, if not too orthodox, accept his explanation of Joshua's feat.

A MONSTER SKULL.

One That Was Said to Be Bigger Than a Bushel Basket.

One of the most remarkable finds of gigantic human remains of which we have any record was that said to have been made at Palermo, Sicily, in the year 1816, when an entire skeleton of unheard of proportions was unearthed by some marble quarry men. These mammoth remains measured exactly thirty-four feet from head to foot and nine feet seven inches from point to point of the shoulders.

A stone as buried with this old giant may still be seen at Palermo in section "Z" of the St. Isidoro museum

It is made of a bluish looking, fine grained bowlder and appears to be about two feet eight inches long by one foot broad and nine inches through in the thickest place. A rusty, rusty looking tag attached to the relic informs the visitor that it weighs fifty-two pounds, but the general verdict is that it could not weigh over thirty or thirty-five pounds.

The skeleton was burned by a mob in the year 1602 during the prevalence of the black death at Palermo, the ignorant, superstitious people believing that it was connected in some mysterious way with the death dealing distemper. The skull of this giant, according to Abbe Ferregus, "was largely excessive of the baskets said to hold the bushel, being fitted above and below with teeth to the number of sixty-four, the each of which would have weighed two ounces."

Cavalier Scry claimed to have found a skull on Tenerife that had sixty teeth. —Westminster Gazette.

Animal Mimicry.

Observers of nature are frequently struck with the singular resemblances of insects to leaves, dried sticks, etc., and these likenesses are supposed to have grown out of the necessity of protection against or concealment from enemies. An interesting example of this kind of resemblance was brought to the attention of the Entomological society in London by a naturalist, who exhibited a spider found inhabiting some rocks near Cannes, on which were also fastened the cases of a species of moth. When at rest the spider exhibited almost precisely the same form and color as the moth cases surrounding it.

Can't Beat 'Em.

As usual, he was monopolizing the newspaper.

"Please let me have the woman's page," she said.

He carefully tore off a page and handed it to her.

It was a full page advertisement of a millinery opening, and he chuckled at his own little joke.

Still, she was revengeful. She went to the opening, and he paid the bill. —Chicago Post.

An Ample Test.

MR. BRYAN'S PLANS

In response to repeated demands, coming from every section of the United States, Mr. Bryan will conduct a vigorous campaign of education through The Commonsense, and assist in the organization of "An educational club in every town." These clubs will promote the work of education among the voters of the country.

To advance this educational plan, each issue of The Commonsense will contain an instructive article on some pertinent political subject, designed to present, in an instructive way, authentic historical information, to give valuable statistical data, to carefully analyze the opposing arguments, and to discuss their application to present-day conditions.

The following subjects, and others, upon which all Americans should be accurately informed, will be discussed:

Banking; Imperialism; Colonization; The Rights of the States; State-Sovereignty; Federalism; Labor; Immigration; Taxation; and Reform; Recall of Public Officials; Commission Form of Government; The Citizen; The Trust Question; Regulation of Railroads and Other Corporations; Popular Election of Senators; Income Tax.

This series will afford a vast fund of political information for any citizen regardless of party affiliation, provide excellent material for all students of economic questions, and will be a valuable compendium of politics for schools and debating societies.

FREE BOOKS FOR EVERYONE

The Commonsense, to start this campaign of education, and to place this series of articles in the hands of as many voters as possible, will give FREE, and express prepaid anywhere in the United States, the following splendid books:

"The Life and Works of Abraham Lincoln"—His volumes, 206 pages, bound in red cloth, gold back stamping. Irreproachable and special articles by Theodore Roosevelt, President Taft, Governor Hughes, Henry Watterson and others. Full biography, anecdotes, tributes, early speeches, famous Lincoln-Douglas debates in full, later presidential addresses and state papers. This set of 10 books will be sent FREE, and express prepaid to anyone sending 10 yearly subscriptions at the regular subscription rate of $1 each.

"The World and Its Way"—Mr. Bryan's own book describing his tour around the world and journeys through Europe. His impressions are highly instructive and entertaining. Contains 378 illustrated Octavo pages, over 100 superb engravings from photographs taken or procured by him. Richly bound in extra English cloth, gold side and back, at $1 each.

Start this week among your friends and secure these books FREE, say or all of them, for a little easy work. It's not hard to secure subscribers for The Commonsense. It is taken by people of all parties, and contains dispassionate and impartial treatment of every subject of the day. Educational clubs will be organized in every community, and many will subscribe in order to secure The Commonsense's Courses of Study. These articles and other special features will be sent to the subscribers, and names may be provided to have the books which we offer FREE, in their library.
